You won't be able to change the account we charge the fee to, but it may change to an account of our choosing if you close the account it's applied to or open a new one. For more information on which of your accounts this fee will be debited from, please contact any BNZ branch or call us on the freephone number. If the statement fee is debited from an account that accrues interest on debit balances or an account where you have insufficient funds, you may be charged additional fees and/or interest on this fee, in line with the relevant product terms and conditions. This fee only applies to customers aged between 18 and 69 and does not apply to joint accounts.

Overdraft establishment fee and unarranged overdraft fee

Overdrafts increase the available funds in your account. An arranged overdraft is one you organise with us in advance. We may also allow an unarranged overdraft if you do not have sufficient funds in your account, for example, for a payment out of your account.

Fees and interest are payable on both arranged and unarranged overdrafts. What you are charged depends on whether you have an arranged overdraft or not. See below for more details.

For more information on overdrafts, see section 7 of our Standard Terms and Conditions and – if you have an arranged overdraft – your Overdraft Agreement.
